

NEW HOLLAND VICTORIOUS IN COUNTY MEET

Walnut-Twp Girls Win Their Events—Davy, New Holland, Shows Class.

Scoring 36 aggregate points against 22 and one-half for their nearest opponent, Jackson-twp, New Holland's crack track team, under the experienced hand of coach Metcalf, scored an impressive victory in the annual county track meet. New Holland presented a well balanced team with excellent performers in both the track and field events. Walnut-twp's girls won their contest with Jackson second.

Although championship time was not recorded in any of the track events, largely because of the wind, the meet was interesting from start to finish with tight finishes featuring each event.

DAVY IS STAR

Davy, New Holland sprinter, goes individual honors, for this boy did nothing less than to win three first places, the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, and the 60-yard dash and the strength he showed in taking these events stamped him as an outstanding performer.

The track and field events were under the supervision of a Mr. Waite of Ohio State University, and every thing went off like clockwork. The only injury any athlete suffered during the day was to Clifton, Muhlenberg-twp athlete, who fell in the cinders in the speed preliminaries and sustained numerous cuts on his legs. He refused to quit the race and won fourth in the finals of the 100-yard dash.

Following is the summary of the meet:

100-yard dash, Davy, (NH); Willis, Ashville; Stump, Darby; Clifton, Muhlenberg; Cook, Walnut. Time 11.2 seconds.

220-yard dash, Davy, New Holland; Cook, Walnut; Leist, Washington; Dunkle, Pickaway; Cook, Ashville. Time 24.8 seconds.

Half mile run, Stump, Darby; Kendall, Jackson; White, Walnut; Hinkle, Pickaway; Hickel, Ashville. Time 2 minutes, 12 seconds.

60-yard dash, Davy, New Holland; Clifton, Muhlenberg; Cook, Walnut; Wolford, Pickaway; Trego, Scioto. Time 7.2 seconds.

Girls 60-yard dash, Fortner, Jackson; Hoffman, Ashville; Johnson, Scioto; Rhoades, Pickaway; Forquer, Walnut.

Girls 40-yard dash, Fortner, Jackson; Hoffman, Ashville; Forquer, Walnut; Lawrence, Monroe; Burgett, Scioto. Time 6 seconds.

Girls Relay, Jackson, New Holland; Scioto, Darby, Pickaway. Mile Relay (boys), Walnut, Jackson, Pickaway. Time 4 minutes, 15 seconds.

Girls Tennis, New Holland, Ashville.

ATLANTA BOY WINS HONORS WITH ORATION

Oakley Turner Scores 92
Points Using Subject
"Imagination."

Perry-twp took a monopoly on the annual Pickaway-co track and field meet and oratory contest held at Derby Friday under the auspices of Derby-twp school, when Oakley Turner of the Perry-twp school at Atlanta won the oratory contest and New Holland's crack track and field team won honors in the events of the day.

Arrangements were in charge of Brice Connell, school superintendent.

The track and field day was typical of the event held each year with every school being represented in the large throng which witnessed each event then turned out for the oratorical contest held in the mammoth tent in the evening. The only feature of the day which was not satisfactory was the great amount of dust which covered the field and high winds which continued throughout the day.

Oakley Turner, clean-cut Atlanta youth, was awarded the oratorical championship following consideration of Dr. Cooper of Ohio State University who judged the talks given by students from each school with the exception of Salt Creek-twp. Turner's subject was "Imagination" and the way he put his talk over to the audience was one of the reasons why he was awarded first prize.

SCORES 92 POINTS

Turner scored 92 points, according to Dr. Cooper's figures.

Second to this Atlanta youth was Marvane French of Pickaway-twp who scored 90 points, just two behind Turner. Her subject was "Castles of Love."

Katherine Sampson of Ashville, was awarded third place with her talk, "Happiness." Her score was 88.

An elaborate program was held Friday evening with music being provided by the county high school orchestra and the county high school chorus.

Invocation was read by Rev. W. B. Rose followed by the selection, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" by the chorus.

The orations then followed in this order:

"Queen of the Ages" by Neva Davis of New Holland;

"Ruts," by Dorothy Wardell, Deer Creek;

"The Gift of Life," by Lyle Davis, Muhlenberg;

"Trial By Jury," by Paul Bader, Walnut;

"Castles of Love," by Marvane French, Pickaway;

"Happiness," by Katherine Sampson of Ashville;

"Making Dreams Come True," Mabel Gochenour, Scioto;

"Modern Youth," by Evelyn Yokum, Washington;

"The Fruits of Labor," by Charlotte Peters, Jackson;

"Imagination," by Oakley Turner, Perry;

"Home Life," by June Hanawalt, Monroe.

Wilmington Man Charged With Fraud, Attempts Suicide Is Report.

WILMINGTON, O., May 3.—Allegedly preferring death to the disgrace which has been heaped on his shoulders because of his purported connection with the highway department scandal here, Lewis I. Frazier, 46, a road building contractor, today had attempted to kill himself, police say. He is in a serious condition as a result of his alleged act.

Frazier was semi-conscious when found in a barn near his residence. He has been unable to talk.

Investigating officers declared that the man, who is under 37 indictments in connection with alleged fraud in road building contracts, set off a dynamite cap against his body.

A long jagged wound was found in his chest near his heart.

The case recalled a similar one in Van Wert-co, where a county highway superintendent shot himself to death because he was faced with questioning in connection with a highway scandal at Lima, Ohio. In the latter case, however, the Van Wert man was not believed to be criminally involved, but was simply ordered to appear before a probing body to clear up some details in an admitted embezzlement charge of a highway employee.

Thomas F. Jeffries, Dry Goods Merchant, Dedicates Life for "Bigger and Better Circleville"

Another of a Series of Intimate Life Stories of Circleville Citizens.

Looking back on 38 years of success is the privilege of Thomas F. Jeffries, prosperous Circleville citizen. This period of time represents his career as a dry goods merchant, primarily, but in later years including many responsible positions in wider interests and civic life.

Mr. Jeffries, co-owner of the Jeffries and Colville store, started as a clerk with the firm of Finkel and Henderson located in the Masonic temple, on S. Court-st. If recollections are correct this was known as "The Home Store." Since the day that Mr. Jeffries entered upon the duties as that boy clerk, he has continued business within the confines of the same room.

SEES MANY CHANGES

He has seen many changes within those walls since he started his work there, and many advancements, and accomplishments have been made through him.

In 1910 after various steps, the store was bought by Mr. Jeffries and Robert G. Colville. The old fixtures and stock were used at first, but each year brought improvements, remodeling of the building and an increasing stock.

He has seen many changes in his store as well as those in the city. He was born in Circleville and has lived here during his entire life. He is one of Circleville's own native sons.

As an enterprising merchant, his thoughts and ideals have been for his home town. These are embodied in his slogan "Bigger and Better Circleville," and his highest aims have been with his city's betterment at heart.

Possibly this has been the formula of his success.

The slogan is also that of the committee of the Pumpkin show.

Circleville's largest annual institution. Mr. Jeffries has been director of department number one and treasurer of the committee for years. So it is that although he does not claim knowledge of the habits and temperaments of trained seals, fancy high divers and Egyptian mummies, he was the inside knowledge of the prices and terms of contracts of all of these and many more concessions.

EXPERT ON COSTS

If a customer shopping in the Jeffries and Colville store should hear some one step up to Mr. Jeffries and ask him over the counter, the cost of a good polar bear, or a wild man from Borneo, let him not be dismayed. It is not an imbecile asking for figures, nor an admired merchant carrying on an animal smuggling racket. It would be some committeeman from another town, getting the low down on a fair for his community.

It has been Mr. Jeffries' duty to pay all of the free acts for the Pumpkin Show. Since he was first treasurer, he has seen the show grow from a $3,000 show to a $10,000 attraction. He has the satisfaction of knowing that since he has been its treasurer, the show has never had a financial loss.

This interesting position is the least of the civic offices that he has held however. He is a past president of the Chamber of Commerce and is one of its directors at the present time. He was a member of the board of real estate appraisers in 1927. He was a member of the city council for 16 years and declined re-election for lack of time which his ever-increasing business has demanded.

Through his time in all offices, "A Bigger and Better Circleville" was always foremost in his mind. In his business his policy has always been "Do As You Promise, and Always Be on Time." These he has united in his life, and has made endless friends at the store, in office and in his home. Mr. Jeffries is a member of the St. Joseph's Catholic church, and was one of the board of wardens. He served on the first committee appointed in 1908 for a new church and residence. That old hobby "Bigger and Better" had the upper hand in the building of the beautiful stone church and residence on W. Mount-st.

PREPAREDNESS CHAIRMAN

A very recent appointment of Mr. Jeffries has been that of emergency chairman on the disaster preparedness program of the National Red Cross. This name means that in case of great disaster in (Turn to Page 3, Please)

J. FRANCISCO FOUND INSANE

Alienists Say Man Has Mentality of 10 Year Old Child —Sent To Lima.

John Francisco, aged 49, a former resident of this city, who is charged with the murder of his daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Edgington, was declared insane by a jury in Franklin-co criminal court Friday and was sentenced to the Lima state hospital for the criminally insane by Judge John R. King.

Drs. Robert Rabell and E. E. Gaver, employed by the state as alienists, were the sole witnesses, and testified Francisco was suffering from a form of insanity from which he would probably never recover. They declared he possesses the mentality of a child less than 10 years of age.

If Francisco should recover his sanity he will be liable for prosecution for murder under the state legislature.

RAIL BRIDGE IS REPAIRED

Workmen Finish Job, Following Fire, Friday Afternoon—Trains Run.

Damage done by fire at the Pennsylvania railroad bridge Thursday, two miles west of this city, has been repaired and regular trains are again running on time.

The fire resulted from sparks from an engine and all trains were halted until 2 p. m. Friday when workmen completed their repair work.

In order to repair the damage as quickly as possible a special train was run from Pittsburgh early Friday with the necessary equipment and a crew of workmen arrived in the city Thursday night.

FOWLER GIVEN SIX MONTHS

Changes Plea of Not Guilty To Guilty Before Judge Brown
Saturday.

William P. Fowler, who was arrested Monday evening following an accident at the corner of Mill and Scioto-sts with Harley Bolin, was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail at hard labor, fined $100 and costs and his license to drive a car was suspended by Probate Judge E. A. Brown in a hearing Saturday morning.

When arrested last Monday evening Fowler had a charge of driving while intoxicated placed against him and pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Friday afternoon when arraigned before Judge Brown he changed his plea.

A number of wrecks, of more or less seriousness, have been reported on the detour for Route 10 between New Holland and Washington, C. H., provided while the highway is being improved. The accidents have been contributed to too much speed and to dust and sharp curves on the road.

MOCK TRIAL OF LUTHERAN BROTHERHOOD BRINGS JOY

Jury Finds Judges, Johnson, Leist, Shaner, Reid and Marion Guilty and Sentences Them To Hang—Round Circleville.

The mock trial that furnished the entertainment of Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood Thursday evening was a marked success.

The men who staged the contest extraordinary given at the last five meetings of the brotherhood, Messrs. J. W. Johnson, C. O. Leist, L. T. Shaner, Prof. W. M. Reid and Walter J. Marion, and who gave their decision to the merchants program under the direction of J. D. Hummel, were tried for bribery.

Officers of the court were: Chas. M. Titus, judge; Fulton Cryder, Court Bailiff; John W. Walters, Clerk of Courts; George C. Griffith, Court Stenographer and Ralph Mack, Sheriff.

E. C. Crist and C. G. Chalfin were the attorneys for the prosecution and C. A. Leist and J. R. Noecker for the defense.

The jury was made up of Arthur Barthelmas, John Beck, Frank H. Palm, H. A. Bumgarner, A. E. Bellers, Daniel Eitel, Sr., M. J. Valentine, Ed. Wardell, George Fischer, Wm. E. Fitzpatrick, Chester C. Wolf, and Mason Klingensmith, and Clinton Mougey, Mr. Mougey being the reserve juror.

The jury was selected at all of the meetings, and with the exception of questioning one jurymen, who was accused of expressing his opinion to one of the accused since the charge given by the court at the recess from last meeting, was ready to enter upon the hearing of the case at the opening of last evening's meeting.

The witnesses for the prosecution were: Charles Walters, Edw. Sensenbrenner, R. L. Bremner and George C. Griffith; for the defense, J. D. Hummel, Charles L. Mack, Edward Crist and John E. Walters.

The entire trial of the case was a travesty on the conduct of a regular trial and was replete with funny incidents and much humor.

After a very short deliberation, the jury found the five accused guilty as charged. The judge in a very deliberate manner then pronounced the sentence, which read: Having been found, guilty as accused, this court imposes the sentence to each one of you, five men, to hang—around Circleville for the next two weeks, at which time you shall by order of this court, put on the entire program in Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood, which program shall be according to your own liking.

The entire series of the contest extraordinary was a marked success and this trial of the judge was a fitting close to the whole affair. The attendance at all of these meetings has been exceptionally good and the interest at a high pitch.

"No nation can expect to progress without looking into the future. The Bible tells us that 'Where there is no vision the people perish,' and Napoleon at the height of his career said 'Imagination rules the world.' Imagination is the great index finger of civilization that has pointed out the pathway of progress through the ages. Rome was determined to conquer Europe, and there was instilled in the minds of her people a spirit of future supremacy. After she conquered her enemies, her people failed to plan and look ahead in regard to their future. They devoted all their time to pleasure and gloating over their riches, while their captives began to plan ahead for the regaining of their freedom. The result was the downfall of Rome.

"Without imagination we would not have the steam train, democratic government with which the United States is governed today. The imagination of the master minds of Washington and his associates laid the foundation of our government. These men foresaw a need of a sound government and the result was the formation of the most perfect set of rules ever made the Constitution of the United States.

I appeal to every craftsman and youth who aspire to become a master and a success and to see our great nation maintain her world leadership to use the most precious gift to humanity, Imagination.

PEN CONVICTS SLOWLY BEGIN THEIR LABORS

Report Sent To Gov. Cooper
Blames Wiring at Penitentiary For Blaze.

COLUMBUS, O., May 3.—Still sullen and stubborn—though submissive to the military rule invoked—convicts at Ohio penitentiary slowly were resuming normal work here today.

National guardsmen remain in rigid control of the state prison, where the fire of undetermined origin resulted in the deaths of 320 convicts 12 days ago.

With quietude extent and with indications that not even a minor disturbance is likely to occur again, Ohioans today focused their attention on reports which had been made as to the cause of the recent penitentiary holocaust.

BLAME WIRING

The official board of inquiry which was directed by Attorney General Gilbert M. Bettman, rendered its report to Governor Myers Y. Cooper late Friday. Its opinion was that the conflagration resulted in all probability, from defective wiring.

Almost simultaneously, the chief executive received a report from investigators of State Fire Marshal Ray H. Gill, who held that the prison fire was of an incendiary nature.

Fire Marshal Gill's deputies based their opinion on information which "they could" submit at this time, adding that their conclusion still necessitated "considerable checking."

Reviewing the reports, Governor Cooper issued a statement, declaring "there must be complete rehabilitation of the physical plant making it (the penitentiary) completely fireproof and secure."

During the course of the inquiry which was conducted by Attorney General Bettman, that official announced he was holding the heads of the prison staff for the purpose of going to Governor Cooper for the recommendation of the prison board of trustees to be temporarily suspended.

Following a conference between the governor and attorney general, it was announced that Cooper would take no action on Bettman's recommendation until the probe was finished.

NAME NO ONE

While citing several alleged acts of negligence, the Bettman report did not designate any person as being responsible, saying "At whose feet this negligence is to be laid is a matter of administration and therefore, we make no recommendation thereon."

The report of the attorney general's board of inquiry left it up to Governor Cooper to fix the responsibility for the alleged negligence at the penitentiary.

But after reviewing the Bettman report and the survey of the investigators of the state fire marshal, the governor, likewise, failed to mention any individual as being responsible for the "Easter" day night fire disaster at Ohio State penitentiary. Pointing out that the prison "must be completely rehabilitated," Governor Cooper concluded:

"The prison must not only be thus physically equipped, but so manned as to bring about modern administrative control and discipline."

ATLANTA BOY WINS HONORS WITH ORATION

Oakley Turner Scores 92 Points Using Subject "Imagination."

Perry-twp took a monopoly on the annual Pickaway-co track and field meet and oratory contest held at Derby Friday under the auspices of Darby-twp school, when Oakley Turner of the Perry-twp school at Atlanta won the oratory contest and New Holland's crack track and field team won honors in the events of the day.

Arrangements were in charge of Brice Connell, school superintendent.

The track and field day was typical of the event held each year with every school being represented in the large throng which witnessed each event then turned out for the oratorical contest held in the mammoth tent in the evening. The only feature of the day which was not satisfactory was the great amount of dust which covered the field and high winds which continued throughout the day.

Oakley Turner, clean-cut Atlanta youth, was awarded the oratorical championship following consideration of Dr. Cooper of Ohio State University who judged the talks given by students from each school with the exception of Saltcreek-twp. Turner's subject was "Imagination" and the way he put his talk over to the audience was one of the reasons why he was awarded first prize.

SCORES 92 POINTS

Turner scored 92 points, according to Dr. Cooper's figures.

Second to this Atlanta youth was Marvene French of Pickaway-twp who scored 90 points, just two behind Turner. Her subject was "Castles of Love."

Katherine Sampson of Ashville, was awarded third place with her talk, "Happiness." Her score was 89.

An elaborate program was held Friday evening with music being provided by the county high school orchestra and the county high school chorus.

Invocation was read by Rev. W. B. Rose followed by the selection, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" by the chorus.

The orations then followed in this order:

"Queen of the Ages" by Neva Davis of New Holland;

"Ruts," by Dorothy Wardell, Deercreek;

"The Gift of Life," by Lyle Davis, Muhlenberg;

"Trial By Jury," by Paul Bade, Walnut;

"Castles of Love," by Marvene French, Pickaway;

"Happiness," by Katherine Sampson of Ashville;

"Making Dreams Come True," Mabel Gochenour, Scioto;

"Modern Youth," by Evelyn Yokum, Washington;

"The Fruits of Labor," by Charlotte Peters, Jackson;

"Imagination," by Oakley Turner, Perry;

"Home Life," by June Hanawalt, Monroe.

CONTRACTOR NEAR DEATH

Wilmington Man Charged With Fraud, Attempts Suicide Is Report.

WILMINGTON, O., May 3.—Allegedly preferring death to the disgrace which has been heaped on his shoulders because of his purported connection with the highway department scandal here, Lewis I. Frazier, 46, a road building contractor, today had attempted to kill himself, police say. He is in a serious condition as a result of his alleged act.

Frazier was semi-conscious when found in a barn near his residence. He has been unable to talk.

Investigating officers declared that the man, who is under 37 indictments in connection with alleged fraud in road building contracts, set off a dynamite cap against his body.

A long jagged wound was found in his chest near his heart.

The case recalled a similar one in Van Wert-co, where a county highway superintendent shot himself to death because he was faced with questioning in connection with a highway scandal at Lima, Ohio. In the latter case, however, the Van Wert man was not believed to be criminally involved, but was simply ordered to appear before a probing body to clear up some details in an admitted embezzlement charge of a highway employee.

Thomas F. Jeffries, Dry Goods Merchant, Dedicates Life for "Bigger and Better Circleville"

Another of a Series of Intimate Life Stories of Circleville Citizens.

Looking back on 38 years of success is the privilege of Thomas F. Jeffries, prosperous Circleville citizen. This period of time represents his career as a dry goods merchant, primarily, but in later years including many responsible positions in wider interests and civic life.

Mr. Jeffries, co-owner of the Jeffries and Colville store, started as a clerk with the firm of Finkel and Henderson located in the Masonic temple, on S. Court-st. If recollections are correct this was known as "The Home Store". Since the day that Mr. Jeffries entered upon the duties as that boy clerk, he has continued business within the confines of the same room.

SEES MANY CHANGES

He has seen many changes within those walls since he started his work there, and many advancements, and accomplishments have been made through him.

In 1910 after various steps, the store was bought by Mr. Jeffries and Robert G. Colville. The old fixtures and stock were used at first, but each year brought improvements, remodeling of the building and an increasing stock.

He has seen many changes in his store as well as those in the city. He was born in Circleville and has lived here during his entire life. He is one of Circleville's own native sons.

As an enterprising merchant, his thoughts and ideals have been for his home town. These are embodied in his slogan "Bigger and Better Circleville", and his highest aims have been with his city's betterment at heart.

Possibly this has been the formula of his success.

The slogan is also that of the committee of the Pumpkin show.

J. FRANCISCO FOUND INSANE

Alienists Say Man Has Mentality of 10 Year Old Child—Sent To Lima.

John Francisco, aged 49, a former resident of this city, who is charged with the murder of his daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Edgington, was declared insane by a jury in Franklin-co criminal court Friday and was sentenced to the Lima state hospital for the criminally insane by Judge John R. King.

Drs. Robert Rabell and E. E. Gaver, employed by the state as alienists, were the sole witnesses, and testified Francisco was suffering from a form of insanity from which he would probably never recover. They declared he poses the mentality of a child less than 10 years of age.

If Francisco should recover his sanity he will be liable for prosecution for murder under the state legislature.

"Imagination," Oration Which Won County Honors

By OAKLEY TURNER

"There has been discovered a wonderful paint brush. It is called Imagination. It can work magic and miracles and change a humdrum monotonous piece of work into a creative accomplishment. If every craftsman will pack this magic brush in his outfit he will learn that he is not working alone but in partnership with the Master Craftsman—for Imagination is one of God's working tools.

"Let the craftsman dip this brush of Imagination into his paint and he will receive a full measure of joy and success from his work.

"Several hundred years ago, Raphael, the great artist took in his hand his brush and a small quantity of pigments and oils and spread them upon a small piece of canvas. The materials he used cost him about one dollar. Recently this painted canvas sold for six hundred thousand dollars. The skill of his hand touched by Imagination transformed that small piece of painted canvas into a masterpiece worth over one half million dollars. Thus did a great artist use his magic brush.

"This magic brush of Imagination develops quality both in craftsman's work and in his character, without it he is just another workman, and his work is just another job.

"Imagination is also a man's spiritual telescope. It will open the windows of a man's soul and let in the sunlight, causing him to see things that he did not know existed. Imagination will show a

Circleville's largest annual institution. Mr. Jeffries has been director of department number one and treasurer of the committee for years. So it is that although he does not claim knowledge of the habits and temperaments of trained seals, fancy high divers and Egyptian mummies, he was the inside knowledge of the prices and terms of contracts of all of these and many more concessions.

EXPERT ON COSTS

If a customer shopping in the Jeffries and Colville store should hear some one step up to Mr. Jeffries and ask him over the counter, the cost of a good polar bear, or a wild man from Borneo, let him not be dismayed. It is not an imbecile asking for figures, nor an admired merchant carrying on an animal smuggling racket. It would be some committeeman

RAIL BRIDGE IS REPAIRED

Workmen Finish Job, Following Fire, Friday Afternoon—Trains Run.

Damage done by fire at the Pennsylvania railroad bridge Thursday, two miles west of this city, has been repaired and regular trains are again running on time.

The fire resulted from sparks from an engine and all trains were halted until 2 p. m. Friday when workmen completed their repair work.

In order to repair the damage as quickly as possible a special train was run from Pittsburgh early Friday with the necessary equipment and a crew of workmen arrived in the city Thursday night.

FOWLER GIVEN SIX MONTHS

Changes Plea of Not Guilty To Guilty Before Judge Brown Saturday.

William P. Fowler, who was arrested Monday evening following an accident at the corner of Mill and Scioto-sts with Harley Bolin, was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail at hard labor, fined $100 and costs and his license to drive a car was suspended by Probate Judge E. A. Brown in a hearing Saturday morning.

When arrested last Monday evening Fowler had a charge of driving while intoxicated placed against him and pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Friday afternoon when arraigned before Judge Brown he changed his plea.

A number of wrecks, of more or less seriousness, have been reported on the detour for Route 10 between New Holland and Washington, C. H., provided while the highway is being improved. The accidents have been contributed to too much speed and to dust and sharp curves on the road.

from another town, getting the low down on a fair for his community.

It has been Mr. Jeffries' duty to pay all of the free acts for the Pumpkin Show. Since he was first treasurer, he has seen the show grow from a $3,000 show to a $10,000 attraction. He has the satisfaction of knowing that since he has been its treasurer, the show has never had a financial loss.

This interesting position is the least of the civic offices that he has held however. He is a past president of the Chamber of Commerce and is one of its directors at the present time. He was a member of the board of real estate appraisers in 1927. He was a member of the city council for 16 years and declined re-election for lack of time which his ever-increasing business has demanded.

Through his time in all offices, "A Bigger and Better Circleville" was always foremost in his mind. In his business his policy has always been "Do As You Promise, and Always Be on Time". These he has united in his life, and has made endless friends at the store, in office and in his home.

Mr. Jeffries is a member of the St. Joseph's Catholic church, and was one of the board of wardens. He served on the first committees appointed in 1908 for a new church and residence. That old hobby "Bigger and Better" had the upper hand in the building of the beautiful stone church and residence on W. Mound-st.

PREPAREDNESS CHAIRMAN

A very recent appointment of Mr. Jeffries has been that of emergency chairman on the disaster preparedness program of the National Red Cross. This name means that in case of great disaster in

MOCK TRIAL OF LUTHERAN BROTHERHOOD BRINGS JOY

Jury Finds Judges, Johnson, Leist, Shaner, Reid and Marion Guilty and Sentences Them To Hang—"Round Circleville."

The mock trial that furnished the entertainment of Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood Thursday evening was a marked success.

The men who judged the contest extraordinary given at the last five meetings of the brotherhood, Messrs. J. W. Johnson, C. O. Leist, L. T. Shaner, Prof. W. M. Reid and Walter J. Marion, and who gave their decision to the merchants program under the direction of J. D. Hummel, were tried for bribery.

Officers of the court were: Chas. M. Tibus, judge; Fulton Cryder, Court Bailiff; John W. Walters, Clerk of Courts; George C. Griffith, Court Stenographer and Ralph Mack, Sheriff.

E. C. Crist and C. G. Chalfin were the attorneys for the prosecution and C. A. Leist and J. R. Noecker for the defense.

The jury was made up of Arthur Barthelmas, John Beck, Frank H. Palm, H. A. Bungarner, A. E. Fellers, Daniel Eitel, Sr., M. J. Valentine, Jack Wardell, George Fischer, Wm. E. Fitzpatrick, Chester C. Wolf, and Mason Klingensmith, and Clinton Mougey, Mr. Mougey being the reserve juror.

The jury was selected at the last meeting, and with the exception of questioning one jurymen, who was accused of expressing his opinion to one of the accused since the recess from last meeting, was ready to enter upon the hearing of the case at the opening of last evening's meeting.

The witnesses for the prosecution were: Charles Walters, Edw. Sensenbrenner, R. L. Brehmer and George C. Griffith; for the defense, J. D. Hummel, Charles L. Mack, Edward Crist and John E. Walters.

The entire trial of the case was a travesty on the conduct of a regular trial and was replete with funny incidents and much humor.

After a very short deliberation, the jury found the five accused guilty as charged. The judge in a very deliberate manner then pronounced the sentence, which read: Having been found guilty as accused, this court imposes the sentence to each one of you five men HANG—around Circleville for the next two weeks, at which time you shall by order of this court, put on the entire program in Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood, which program shall be according to your own liking.

The entire series of the contest extraordinary was a marked success and this trial of the judge was a fitting close to the whole affair. The attendance at all of these meetings has been exceptionally good and the interest at a high pitch.

PEN CONVICTS SLOWLY BEGIN THEIR LABORS

Report Sent To Gov. Cooper Blames Wiring at Penitentiary For Blaze.

COLUMBUS, O., May 3.—Still sullen and stubborn—though submissive to the military rule invoked—convicts at Ohio penitentiary slowly were resuming normal work here today.

National guardsmen remain in rigid control of the state prison, where the fire of undetermined origin resulted in the deaths of 320 convicts 12 days ago.

With quietude extent and with indications that not even a minor disturbance is likely to occur again, Ohioans today focused their attention on reports which had been made as to the cause of the recent penitentiary holocaust.

BLAME WIRING

The official board of inquiry which was directed by Attorney General Gilbert M. Bettman rendered its report to Governor Myers Y. Cooper late Friday. Its opinion was that the conflagration resulted in all probability, from defective wiring.

Almost simultaneously, the chief executive received a report from investigators of State Fire Marshal Ray R. Gill, who held that the prison fire was of an incendiary nature.

Fire Marshal Gill's deputies based their opinion on information which "they couldn't submit at this time," adding that their conclusion still necessitated "considerable checking."

Reviewing the reports, Governor Cooper issued a statement, declaring "there must be complete rehabilitation of the physical plant, making it (the penitentiary) completely fireproof and secure."

During the course of the inquiry which was conducted by Attorney General Bettman, that official announced he was halting the probe of the prison fire for the purpose of going to Governor Cooper with the recommendation that Warden Preston E. Thomas of the penitentiary be temporarily suspended.

Following a conference between the governor and attorney general, it was announced that Cooper would take no action on Bettman's recommendation until the probe was finished.

NAME NO ONE

While citing several alleged acts of negligence, the Bettman report did not designate any person as being responsible saying: "At whose feet this negligence is to be laid is a matter of administration, and therefore, we make no recommendation thereon."

The report of the attorney general's board of inquiry left it up to Governor Cooper to fix the responsibility for the alleged negligence at the penitentiary.

But after reviewing the Bettman report and the survey of the investigators of the state fire marshal, the governor, likewise, failed to mention any individual as being responsible for the Easter Monday night fire disaster at Ohio State penitentiary. Pointing out that the prison "must be completely rehabilitated," Governor Cooper concluded:

"The prison must not only be thus physically equipped, but so manned as to bring about modern administrative control and discipline."

The Church Invites You

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU
Motive Power
The late Bishop Williams of Michigan said, "If the church would fulfill its mission, it must be the home of many minds. The church is comprehensive, composed of men of widely different views, presumably interested in making better conditions in society, industry, and politics."
"The church's business is to inspire men with such a common motive to create in them the spirit of brotherhood and service. Though men will always differ as to the methods, if enough men get the right spirit, almost any method will do."
The program of human brotherhood and Christian service needs to be motivated. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

Stevens, Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co., presents in an entertaining and instructive manner activities for children throughout the year. The stories are practical and easily adapted to every-day use in the home.
LIFE INDEED by Brierley, Scribner's, comprises a series of sermons on things that matter most with special emphasis on the power of God to transform the world of today with all its perplexities and inconsistencies. He seeks to portray the vital, primitive Christianity without any of its modern encumbrances.

On S.S. Lesson

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
Promotion in the Kingdom.
Matthew 20:17-28 for Sunday, May 4.
Jesus was making His last journey to Jerusalem and he taught His disciples many valuable lessons as He proceeded; it was hard for them to comprehend the new kingdom and how to promote it; it was natural for them to think of a temporal kingdom soon to be set up and in which each of them would have a leading part.
Vs. 17-18. "And Jesus going up to Jerusalem, took the twelve disciples apart on the way, and said unto them, behold we go up to Jerusalem; and the Son of Man shall be betrayed unto the chief priests and unto the scribes and they shall condemn him to death; and Jesus knew that the end of his earthly life was near and He approached that hour fearlessly and as if it were a simple duty to be performed without complaint; what one says at the close of life makes the greatest impression and usually has unusual value; the most important teachings of Christ are connected with His last Jerusalem journey.
V. 19. "And shall deliver Him unto the Gentiles to mock and to scourge and to crucify; and the third day He shall be raised." No greater humiliation could happen than to be mocked and scourged by those in authority as if the same was a deserved penalty; here is the price of discipleship—to bear without malice inflicted suffering for doing one's highest duty.
V. 20. "Then came to Him the mother of the sons of Zebedee with her sons, worshipping him and asking a certain thing." Every mother has an ambition that her sons shall do well, but to take advantage of friendship and base promotion on favoritism is an unworthy principle; the only basis for promotion is merit; the worship in this instance was not true worship else there would have been no self seeking.
V. 21. "And He said unto her, what wouldst thou? She saith unto Him, command that these my sons may sit, one on Thy right hand and one on Thy left hand in Thy kingdom." This mother was honest; she was a good woman but she did not understand Christ and His kingdom; all have much to learn about Him and from Him.
V. 22. "But Jesus answered and said, ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink the cup that I am about to drink? They say

EMPLOYMENT CHANGE MOST IMPORTANT PROBLEM OF DAY

WASHINGTON.—One of the most difficult and important problems of the day is the seasonal and cyclical changes in employment, Howard Cooley of Boston, told the United States chamber of commerce today.

Pointing out that for generations stabilized currency has been considered as the very foundation of a nation's success, Cooley said few realized what a "comfortable superstructure" we could create by having stabilized demand, stabilized prices and stabilized employment.

Such an utopia could never be reached, he said, but in view of changing conditions and growing enlightenment, a move in this direction is possible.

"To establish a starting point we must go to the roots of many problems, all of which need study and coordination," he said. "Fortunately these are days when business is gradually becoming a profession. Recent statistics prove that greatest demand in the high schools and colleges is for courses in business education.

"Gradually our institutions of learning are developing a science of business training and are turning out graduates who have a knowledge both of the fundamentals of business research and of its application. In fact, the majority of our progressive corporations are making broad use of this modern business training.

Discussing taxation Felix M. McWhirter, of Indianapolis, said "our taxation muddle is a combination of many muddles, one produced by all taxes being too high, reflecting an imprudent level of expenditures, another of taxes being inequitable, reflecting unfair distribution among various taxpayers, and the muddle of taxes being too numerous, reflecting the lack of a constant policy in revenue matters."

McWhirter asserted that eminent tax thinkers insist the present condition has all of these elements—that are inequitable, too high, too numerous and too complicated.

"There are many plausible explanations of why the cost of government has advanced," he said. "A part of the increase may be attributed to the decreased purchasing power of the dollar. A second part may be attributed to the aftermath of the war. But the substantial part arises from these causes: over-organization of the government; failure to consolidate overlapping spending units; failure to keep governmental operating methods and control of personnel in step with established private practices; headlong assumption of new functions; prodigal contraction of the public debt and our insistence upon standards and varieties of public service approaching the ideal rather than approaching our capacity to pay for them."

They Should Be Dry-Cleaned

JEFFRIES

Pickaway-co, it would be up to Mr. Jeffries as a local chairman to meet the emergency instantly of housing victims of such a disaster in the county. As soon as possible the national red cross would come to the rescue.

A Democrat by birth, Mr. Jeffries at the present time and for years past has been an active member of the Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee.

The slogan of "Bigger and Better Circleville" is again manifested in the building of residences, doubles and apartments, almost two dozen in number. Each is strictly modern, making life very livable for the tenants. Each home is kept in that condition, and his properties are models of real estate.

Mr. Jeffries is a member of Circleville Lodge number 77, B. P. O. Elks, a charter member of the Pickaway Country Club and is a member and one of the trustees of the Modern Woodmen of America.

Mrs. Thomas Jeffries was Miss Cecelia Prather, of Lancaster, O. They were married Sep. 3, 1896. Their two children are Erma and Lawrence. Erma is Mrs. D. J. Bradley. Her husband, Dr. Bradley, is a rising child specialist of Cincinnati. They have two children, Jean and Tommy.

BOTH GRADUATES

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffries' two children, like Mr. Jeffries, are graduates of St. Joseph's parochial school and of Everts high school. They are also graduates of Ohio State University. Mrs. Bradley in Arts and Lawrence Jeffries in the Arts college. Lawrence is also a graduate of the Law school of the University of Cincinnati where he was awarded the highest honors given by the school. During the war he was appointed to West Point, where he later resigned to resume his studies at Ohio State University. He is now associated with the legal department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. of Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffries are proud of their children, and may well be.

DONIE BUSH GIVES VIEW OF LEAGUES

Says Shires Fine Ball Player—Names Indians and St. Louis To Stop A's.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
NEW YORK, May 3.—Starting with the assertion that "Shires is the ideal type of ball player and I wish I had more like him," Donnie Bush, making his first trip over the wheel as manager of the Chicago White Sox, today set off a series of oral fire crackers right in front of the writer. If he realizes that he was calling everything by its right name, he gave no sign. He simply was naming his shots and the following is the official score in runs, hits and errors, as the case may or may not be.

The Washington Senators may be sitting on top of the American league, but little as he claims to know about the league at this time, he says he is willing to venture that he knows about the Senators. They simply haven't got it, says he.

If the Chicago Cubs win the National league pennant again, they will have to beat at least one club that is their superior, the Pittsburgh Pirates, and maybe another, the New York Giants.

The Athletics ought to win, but they won't—unless they show more ability to beat the east. The west, said he, will be just a series of four tough stops for any eastern invader, with Cleveland and St. Louis the toughest.

As for C. Arthur Shires, the open adenoid, Mr. Bush finds him to be almost self-effacing.

"He's all right," said Mr. Bush with just that shade of emphasis that meant that C. Arthur Shires, was indeed, all right. A snappy little Irishman, Mr. Bush. He looks right along the barrel at you with a pair of steady eyes and defies you to stare him down. There's a lurking suggestion of chill in those eyes. They aren't cold—but they can be. He gets a lot of satisfaction out of speaking his mind and so the writer decided to let him enjoy himself.

The Cubs? They'll be lucky to repeat, what with the way they were going last year from September on into and through the world series.

"The Pirates are a better club," he added. "With those young players coming through for them, they will be hard to lick when L. Waner and Traynor get back. The trading of Grimes seemed to settle their pennant chances, too, but the young pitchers have come forward in his place. They are up there now. They'll stay up there pitching, they will be able to beat the Cubs, too. They might even win. McGraw has a good ball club. In fact, if either the Giants and Pirates had kept on top of the Cubs last year they would have beaten Chicago in the stretch.

So much for that. How about the Senators? Just as one man guessing with another, Mr. Bush was willing to guess that the Senators were over their heads like the parlor ceiling.

"I haven't seen them in years," he conceded. "But I ought to have an idea of what they have. I had a lot of them down there in Washington seven years ago and some of those boys weren't so juvenile then. This isn't the year to win with a club like that. Of course they'll be hard for us to beat because they all will be hard for us to beat this year. We're just getting started together and I'm still uncertain at short-stop. Jolley hasn't begun to hit but I figure him to do at least .300.

"They have a couple of real clubs in St. Louis and Cleveland, a fact that the Athletics will discover when they try to repeat some of their western trips of last year. This is no bus ride. This race is going to be a race. Another thing about the Athletics: they aren't going to beat the Yankees forever. No club is going to do that. The Athletics may win the

LITHOPOLIS 9 AT ASHVILLE

Teams Fight for First Place In Suburban League—Downs To Be On Mound.

The Ashville baseball team will return to its home grounds Sunday afternoon where it will have as opponents the Lithopolis nine whom are at present tied for first place in the league.

Ashville will be fresh from a shutout victory over Obetz last Sunday and since the two teams are very bitter rivals fans can expect a whale of a game. Lee Downs, the veteran Ashville slow ball pitcher, let the Obetz crew down with but one hit in last Sunday's game and it is expected that he will again be the manager's choice to do the pitching in this game.

Lithopolis has what they say is the best ball team they have ever sponsored in that village and without a doubt they are coming to Ashville to do all in their power to cop the verdict. The Lithopolis manager was greatly 'opposed' to Ashville's joining the league and tried to prevent it from obtaining a franchise. So it looks like the first meeting of the two teams will bring together bitter rivals who are out for blood. Both managers will no doubt drive their men to the last notch in an effort to win and indications are that the game will be one of the best fans will have a chance to witness this season.

"Hook" Whaley will be on the hill for the Lithopolis team and this big curve ball artist is one of the best pitchers in the league. Fans from the Wagonwells city claim he will have little trouble in setting back the Ashville sluggers. A large crowd is coming with the visitors to Ashville and arrangements have been made to care for several hundred more fans than usual.

The game will be called at 2:30 prompt with association umpires in charge.

DONIE BUSH GIVES VIEW OF LEAGUES

Says Shires Fine Ball Player—Names Indians and St. Louis To Stop A's.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, May 3.—Starting with the assertion that "Shires is the ideal type of ball player and I wish I had more like him," Donie Bush, making his first trip over the wheel as manager of the Chicago White Sox, today set off a series of oral fire crackers right in front of the writer. If he realizes that he was calling everything by its right name, he gave no sign. He simply was naming his shots and the following is the official score in runs, hits and errors, as the case may or may not be.

The Washington Senators may be sitting on top of the American league, but little as he claims to know about the league at this time, he says he is willing to venture that he knows about the Senators. They simply haven't got it, says he.

If the Chicago Cubs win the National league pennant again, they will have to beat at least one club that is their superior, the Pittsburgh Pirates, and maybe another, the New York Giants.

The Athletics ought to win, but they won't—unless they show more ability to beat the east. The west, said he, will be just a series of four tough stops for any eastern invader, with Cleveland and St. Louis the toughest.

As for C. Arthur Shires, the open adenoid, Mr. Bush finds him to be almost self-effacing.

"He's all right," said Mr. Bush with just that shade of emphasis that meant that C. Arthur Shires, was indeed, all right. A snappy little Irishman, Mr. Bush. He looks right along the barrel at you with a pair of steady eyes and defies you to stare him down. There's a lurking suggestion of chill in those eyes. They aren't cold—but they can be. He gets a lot of satisfaction out of speaking his mind and so the writer decided to let him enjoy himself.

The Cubs? They'll be lucky to repeat, what with the way they were going last year from September on into and through the world series.

"The Pirates are a better club," he added. "With those young players coming through for them, they will be hard to lick when L. Waner and Traynor get back. The trading of Grimes seemed to settle their pennant chances, too, but the young pitchers have come forward in his place. They are up there now. They'll stay up there and maybe they will go even higher when they get set with their pitching, they will be able to beat the Cubs, too. They might even win. McGraw has a good ball club. In fact, if either the Giants and Pirates had kept on top of the Cubs last year they would have beaten Chicago in the stretch.

So much for that. How about the Senators? Just as one man guessing with another, Mr. Bush was willing to guess that the Senators were over their heads like the parlor ceiling.

"I haven't seen them in years," he conceded. "But I ought to have an idea of what they have. I had a lot of them down there in Washington seven years ago and some of those boys weren't so juvenile then. This isn't the year to win with a club like that. Of course they'll be hard for us to beat because they all will be hard for us to beat this year. We're just getting started together and I'm still uncertain at short-stop. Jolley hasn't begun to hit but I figure him to do at least 300.

"They have a couple of real clubs in St. Louis and Cleveland, a fact that the Athletics will discover when they try to repeat some of their western trips of last year. This is no bus ride. This race is going to be a race. Another thing about the Athletics: they aren't going to beat the Yankees forever. No club is going to do that. The Athletics may win the

MUSICAL AMERICA

It isn't necessary to look to concert halls for evidence of the gain in musical culture in this country. A common pleasantry judge suggests that doubters look into their homes for such evidence. He tells his own experience as follows:

"When I was a boy the neighbors used to protest because I played the trombone. They were always kicking about it. They didn't like the sound of it, and they didn't think it right for a young man to waste his time on anything like that."

"Now my boy is interested in music. Instead of protests, he doesn't 'belong' if he doesn't know something about music. He plays in his school band and everybody thinks it's fine."

High school bands, orchestras and choruses are doing excellent work these days. Some of their performances have a professional precision and beauty about them that are a joy to listeners and do much to raise the standard of popular taste.

These youngsters who like to play and sing good music also like to listen to the works of artists. Some of them, some day, will compose good music, too.

NATIONAL DEBATING SOCIETY

As the London three-power treaty goes to the Senate there is general expectation that it will be ratified. The public as a whole seems to have accepted the treaty, not as ideal, not as accomplishing a great deal for national safety and international peace, but as probably the best arrangement possible at this time. Many senators who might have been opposed to a more drastic disarmament pact are thought to be reconciled to it.

There will be the usual debate, nevertheless. Trust the Senate to turn every feature of that treaty into voluminous oratory and argument before deigning to accept it. There will be, as usual, more speculating than is necessary for the purpose. It will probably be handled in an unbusinesslike way. And yet anyone looking at the situation broadly and tolerantly must admit that all this serves a useful purpose.

The United States Senate is the most conspicuous forum in this country. It is our great national debating club. It is the old-fashioned country schoolhouse debating society brought down to date with 100,000,000 people for an audience.

Debate in the House no longer amounts to much. But in the Senate every great public issue is thrashed out. The decisions are not always right; but more than anywhere else in America every side, every interest, has a hearing. Whether the logic is good or bad, there is oratorical representation for everything that deserves it. The publicity value is incalculable.

IMPOUNDING CARS

Dallas, Tex., is said to have invoked an old live stock law to solve its parking problem. City officials found they were getting nowhere by the tag system. It required the services of four officers to get people with parking tags into court, and the officers didn't locate all parking offenders even so, because of a defective state registration act.

Then some bright official dusted off the old law which provided for the impounding of live stock found wandering on the public highways. The city bought two touring cars, marked parking zones and hours clearly, and announced its intention of impounding all cars found parked illegally.

Within five months more than 4,000 cars had been impounded, and their owners got them back only when they paid the fine. Protests of owners were futile. The court upheld the application of the law. Anyone caught once makes a serious effort not to get caught again. The result is that the city has experienced genuine relief for the first time.

Perhaps communities not blessed with a usable live stock ordinance should take up the idea at the next city council meeting.

FISHING FOR INDUSTRIES

It was regarded as a great idea when a few years ago, chambers of commerce began employing "industrial commissioners" to bring new factories and businesses to their cities. And it was, for a while. But at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, assembled in Washington the other day, the delegates confessed themselves disillusioned on this point.

The plan worked, as so many bright schemes do, as long as it was in operation only here and there. When every bustling city eager for new industries got an

"SHEIK'S WIFE"

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

DESPITE the warnings of her friend, Mary, young and unsophisticated Eve Reade married Ken Wilmer, well known artist. Eve hopes to become accustomed to the unconventional ways of Ken's artist associates in The Lane. She has a staunch friend in Nory O'Rell, the author. Ken and Eve spend their honeymoon at Eve's uncle's home. They meet Puss Southwick, who asks permission to visit Ken's studio some time. Ken becomes restless and they return home. In spite of many happy hours, numerous differences arise which Eve tries to overlook. To please Ken, she suggests a housewarming. He is enthusiastic. Nory arrives at the peak of it and Eve feels the party would have been unsuccessful without him. Puss Devoe flirts with Ken. The colony wonders when Ken asks Fifi to pose for him, and Eve resents it. Ken's picture of Eve appears on a magazine cover and she is thrilled. Lonely when Ken's time is taken up with his work and Fifi, Eve visits Nory.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIII.

IT WAS Sunday evening and everybody had been invited to the Kellys for supper and had made haste to accept, since the cooking and serving of food was a thing avoided in The Lane whenever possible.

Eve had left Ken putting some finishing touches to work which should have been sent out a week ago and had tramped the afternoon away, swinging along backroads where no cars came and where she met only occasional farm children and the self-contained colliers every farm seemed to own.

The old question was turning itself again in her mind; wouldn't Ken be more interested—love her more—if she could do one of the things everybody in The Lane was doing? Could she learn to write? She had tried very hard indeed?

She had wished to ask Nory's advice, but the recollection of what Ken had said about would-be writers and artists held her back. No doubt Nory would feel the same and treat her questions with equal scorn. Still Eve felt that she might do something.

Elma Kelly—or Elma Shields as she signed herself—who surely had no genius received a high salary for the newspaper column she wrote every day. She made a specialty of giving advice to women who thought the column did but Ken once said that it was considered good journalism. Jan and Nory, too, had been successful. Nory was the only man writer in the colony. And it did seem to Eve that she might do as well as the others. She would try—oh, work like a slave—if it made any difference at all.

She was still thinking of this on the way back to Ken who seemed to be waiting for her. She had a great idea. She would try—oh, work like a slave—if it made any difference at all. industrial commissioner on the job as a correspondent at the Washington meeting observes, they "canceled each other" and the result was negligible. What good is it going to do cities to lure industries from each other? Only a few, with special facilities and inducements or specially clever commissioners, can win. The industrial commissioners their little flirtatious gestures as a word in quotation marks is separated from the text of a page.

Eve drew a sharp breath and caught the flicker of Elma's eyes when Elma turned quickly and began to chatter at Pierre Carr. There was the abrupt clatter of talk under which people always bury a stammered instant and through the din Nory's voice drawlingly demanded of Clayton how come he figured on sitting next to Eve.

"Out, old kid, and make it smart. That's the way to deal with pirates," he confided to everybody when Clay had moved. "He's doing that purposely, drawing their attention—bless him." So ran Eve's thought, going round and round in the crazy way of dry leaves caught in a draught.

Nory was handing her things, talking all the while, and she was answering "Yes" "no" "no" "no" hearing a word. Ken . . . Ken and Fifi Devoe.

Once Eve had thought that if she were Ken's wife and he were to have a flirtation she would die. But you don't die so easily, much ing arrangement was always catch-and-release at Elma's and Eve paused at the nearest chair and saw that Ken was between Chuck and Ivy, talking about in a questioning way. Ivy saw his hesitation and moved back, giving her hard little laugh and looked over her shoulder as she moved around the table to the place Fifi had left.

It was one of those times when the crowd in the room seemed as all in the hands of the women. Ken was looking at her, different somehow, and apart from

Rubber Goods Not Molded

Contrary to what seems to be the quite common impression, rubber goods are not cast by pouring the molten material into molds. Instead the crude rubber is worked between steam-heated rolls and at the same time the sulphur and other ingredients are mixed in. The warm, plastic mixture is then molded and heated to vulcanize the rubber—that is, to cause the sulphur to combine with it.

Food, Air, Sunshine!

Nature's Guards Against Anaemia

Says Dr. Copeland

Food Which Is Rich in Iron Is Essential to the Anaemic Person—However, Hygienic Living Must Supplement the Proper Diet.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A LACK of proper diet, of fresh air and sunshine play havoc with the physical health. There are thousands of persons, each of whom can trace a deplorable physical condition to the lack of a nutritious diet and a shut-in existence.

DR. COPELAND

While it may not be traced directly to the neglect of hygiene, anaemia is a disease which is all too prevalent among persons who are guilty of such neglect. It is a disease of so much importance that attention must be directed to it.

Anaemia and tuberculosis are, in a sense, closely allied. In both there is a breaking down of the red corpuscles of the blood. This coloring matter in the blood, called "hemoglobin," is absolutely essential to strength and good health.

There is no doubt that the reducing fad of the past few years has been conducive to thousands of cases of anaemia and tuberculosis. For fashion's sake, girls go without the proper food. They remain thin, or get thin, and fall in health to an alarming extent.

It makes no difference what type of anaemia the patient has, there will be loss of strength and rapid, the digestion poor, and there is broken sleep. Headaches and dizziness, sometimes fainting, and neuragic pains occur.

You cannot have red blood and good color unless you eat properly. You must have the foods that contain the minerals, especially iron. You must have your full share of the mysterious vitamins. This means you must choose your food with care.

Another cause for anaemia is the absorption of poison from the wastes of the body. Constipation and fermentation in the bowels cannot be disregarded as to their fruitful output of bodily poisons.

You cannot be well if in the body

fresh air, an abundance of light and sunshine, plenty of wholesome exercise, you are sure to impair your blood.

Experiments have shown that there are certain foods which build up the red corpuscles of the blood more quickly than others. Liver ranks first as a blood building food. You may use calves' liver, beef, pig or chicken liver—they possess similar properties.

A person who is 'anaemic' hasn't much appetite. On this account it is essential to find new ways of serving food to make it attractive and appealing. Liver may be served in many different ways.

The anaemic person should have a diet which is simple and nutritious. This should include foods rich in iron, such as red, tender beef, liver, eggs and plenty of good milk, well-made bread and butter. Also spinach, beets, cabbage and most of the green vegetables should be included. The fresh fruits, especially the citrus fruits and strawberries are rich in iron. Dried prunes, almonds and walnuts are all good.

You cannot neglect the diet and remain in good health. It needs some intelligence to select and maintain a proper diet, but it certainly pays in the end. Now is the time of year to take advantage of the out-of-doors. Sunshine is yours for the asking. Be outdoors all you can. Build for good health.

Theatres

AT THE METROPOLITAN

"The Broadway Hooper," the Columbia all-talking musical romance opens at the Metropolitan Theatre Sunday with Marie Saxon, Jack Egan and Louise Fazenda in the leading roles. Though the story is simple, it is robust enough to form a satisfactory basis for the excellent music.

The plot is built about Adele Dorey, popular New York musical comedy actress, who goes to a country town to recuperate after a strenuous season. Adele, accompanied by her maid-companion, Jane, are enjoying the simple life when Bobby Lewis, manager and leading man of a burlesque show arrives. He not only succeeds in winning the Broadway star's heart, but presses her into service as a member of his troupe. How Adele decides to tear up a lucrative contract to follow the burlesque hooper, supplies a dramatic conclusion to the romantic plot.

This love romance of the two children of jazz who will dance their way into your heart is the last word in eye and ear entertainment. George Archambaud directed.

William Boyd is rapidly gaining the reputation of being the screen's most formidable champion of the uniform. In "Officer O'Brien," a Pathe talking picture directed by Tay Garnett and in which he is starred, Boyd plays a lieutenant of police and chalks up his seventh part in brass buttons or olive drab.

Boyd started his military screen record with "Dress Parade," as a cadet of the United States Military Academy. In "Two Arabian Knights" he was a doughboy. In "The Leatherneck," he played a marine. In "Lady of the Pavements" he was an officer of some mythical Kingdom. "The Cop" he was a policeman. "His First Command" found him a cavalryman and now, in "Officer O'Brien" he is one of the finest.

"Officer O'Brien" is an original story by Tom Buchanan. It is tense drama and is packed with thrills from start to finish. Others in the cast are Dorothy Sebastian, featured as leading woman, Ernest Torrence, Clyde Cook, Paul Hunsan, Russell Gleason, Arthur Housman, Ralf Harolde and Tom Mahoney.

AT THE CLIFTONA

If you can imagine that never-to-be-forgotten epic of war aviation, "Wings" with its zooming planes, its thrilling air-fights, its awe-inspiring grandeur, its romance, its gaiety and its pathos—all-talking, you'll have a plenty good idea of the great entertainment that awaits you at the Cliftona Theatre, Sunday. There "Young Eagles" with Charles (Buddy) Rogers in the starring role, is enjoying a rousing welcome.

Buddy was never better, even in "Wings" than he is in this smashing entertainment. He's a dashing young officer of aviation who fights and loves, is convincingly duped and greatly rewarded in fast-moving and spectacular fashion. The picture moves from the battle fronts of the skies to the easy life behind the lines, from the danger and suspense of war to the gaiety and glamor of glittering Paris.

And the girl is Jean Arthur, the darling little charmer of "Half Way to Heaven." After her performance in "Young Eagles," she's sure to be established as the all-time girl friend of "America's boy-friend." Paul Lukas has a handsome role and handles it handsomely. And, for laughs, there's Stuart Erwin who lifted the roof as the dumb "Axel" in "Sweetie."

During his moving picture career, Richard Arlen, Paramount's latest star, who will be seen in his first stellar role in the Cliftona Theatre feature for Friday and Saturday of this week, "Burning Up," has played opposite some of screendom's most beautiful women. In "Burning Up" Mary Brian his heroine of "The Man I Love" and "The Virginian," is his sweetheart again.

In "She's a Sheik" and "Feel My Pulse," Bebe Daniels was the star. Arlen played opposite Clara Bow in "Wings," "Ladies of the Mob" and "Dangerous Curves." He has made love to Fay Wray and Louise Brooks. In "Danger-Cocktail," he played opposite Nancy Carroll.

AT THE GRAND

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, perhaps the most popular of all screen sweethearts, not only talk in "Sunny Side Up," original Fox Movietone musical comedy by DeSylva, Brown and Henderson, but also sing and dance in a manner which marks them as outstanding performers in this field as they were in silent pictures.

Miss Gaynor has studied voice culture ever since she first entered pictures, a little over three years ago. To sing always has been one of her greatest ambitions, she confessed recently, and ever since signing a long term contract with Fox she has filled in much of her spare time studying voice.

Consequently, when the development of audible pictures attained their tremendous popularity, the little star was well equipped to step before a microphone and talk or sing with the best of them. Unlike so many of the former silent screen favorites, who have passed into oblivion with the new era, Miss Gaynor has attained even greater heights through the use of her voice.

She sings several songs in "Sunny Side Up" which will be seen and heard on the screen of the Grand Theatre, all written especially for her by the highly successful song writing combination of DeSylva, Brown and Henderson. She also displays real ability as a solo dancer in one number.

MUSICAL AMERICA

It isn't necessary to look to concert halls for evidence of the gain in musical culture in this country. A common pleas court judge suggests that doubters look into their homes for such evidence. He tells his own experience as follows:

"When I was a boy the neighbors used to protest because I played the trombone. They were always kicking about it. They didn't like the sound of it, and they didn't think it right for a young man to waste his time on anything like that.

"Now my boy is interested in music. Instead of protests, he doesn't 'belong' if he doesn't know something about music. He plays in his school band and everybody thinks it's fine."

High school bands, orchestras and choruses are doing excellent work these days. Some of their performances have a professional precision and beauty about them that are a joy to listeners and do much to raise the standard of popular taste.

These youngsters who like to play and sing good music also like to listen to the works of artists. Some of them, some day, will compose good music, too.

NATIONAL DEBATING SOCIETY

As the London three-power treaty goes to the Senate there is general expectation that it will be ratified. The public as a whole seems to have accepted the treaty, not as ideal, not as accomplishing a great deal for national safety and international peace, but as probably the best arrangement possible at this time. Many senators who might have been opposed to a more drastic disarmament pact are thought to be reconciled to it.

There will be the usual debate, nevertheless. Trust the Senate to turn every feature of that treaty into voluble oratory and argument before deigning to accept it. There will be, as usual, more speechifying than is necessary for the purpose. It will probably be handled in an unbusinesslike way. And yet anyone looking at the situation broadly and tolerantly must admit that all this serves a useful purpose.

The United States Senate is the most conspicuous forum in this country. It is our great national debating club. It is the old-fashioned country schoolhouse debating society brought down to date with 100,000,000 people for an audience.

Debate in the House no longer amounts to much. But in the Senate every great public issue is threshed out. The decisions are not always right; but more than anywhere else in America every side, every interest, has a hearing. Whether the logic is good or bad, there is oratorical representation for everything that deserves it. The publicity value is incalculable.

IMPOUNDING CARS

Dallas, Tex., is said to have invoked an old live stock law to solve its parking problem. City officials found they were getting nowhere by the tag system. It required the services of four officers to get people with parking tags into court, and the officers didn't locate all parking offenders even so, because of a defective state registration act.

Then some bright official dusted off the old law which provided for the impounding of live stock found wandering on the public highways. The city bought two touring cars, marked parking zones and hours clearly, and announced its intention of impounding all cars found parked illegally.

Within five months more than 4,000 cars had been impounded, and their owners got them back only when they paid the fine. Protests of owners were futile. The court upheld the application of the law. Anyone caught once makes a serious effort not to get caught again. The result is that the city has experienced genuine relief for the first time.

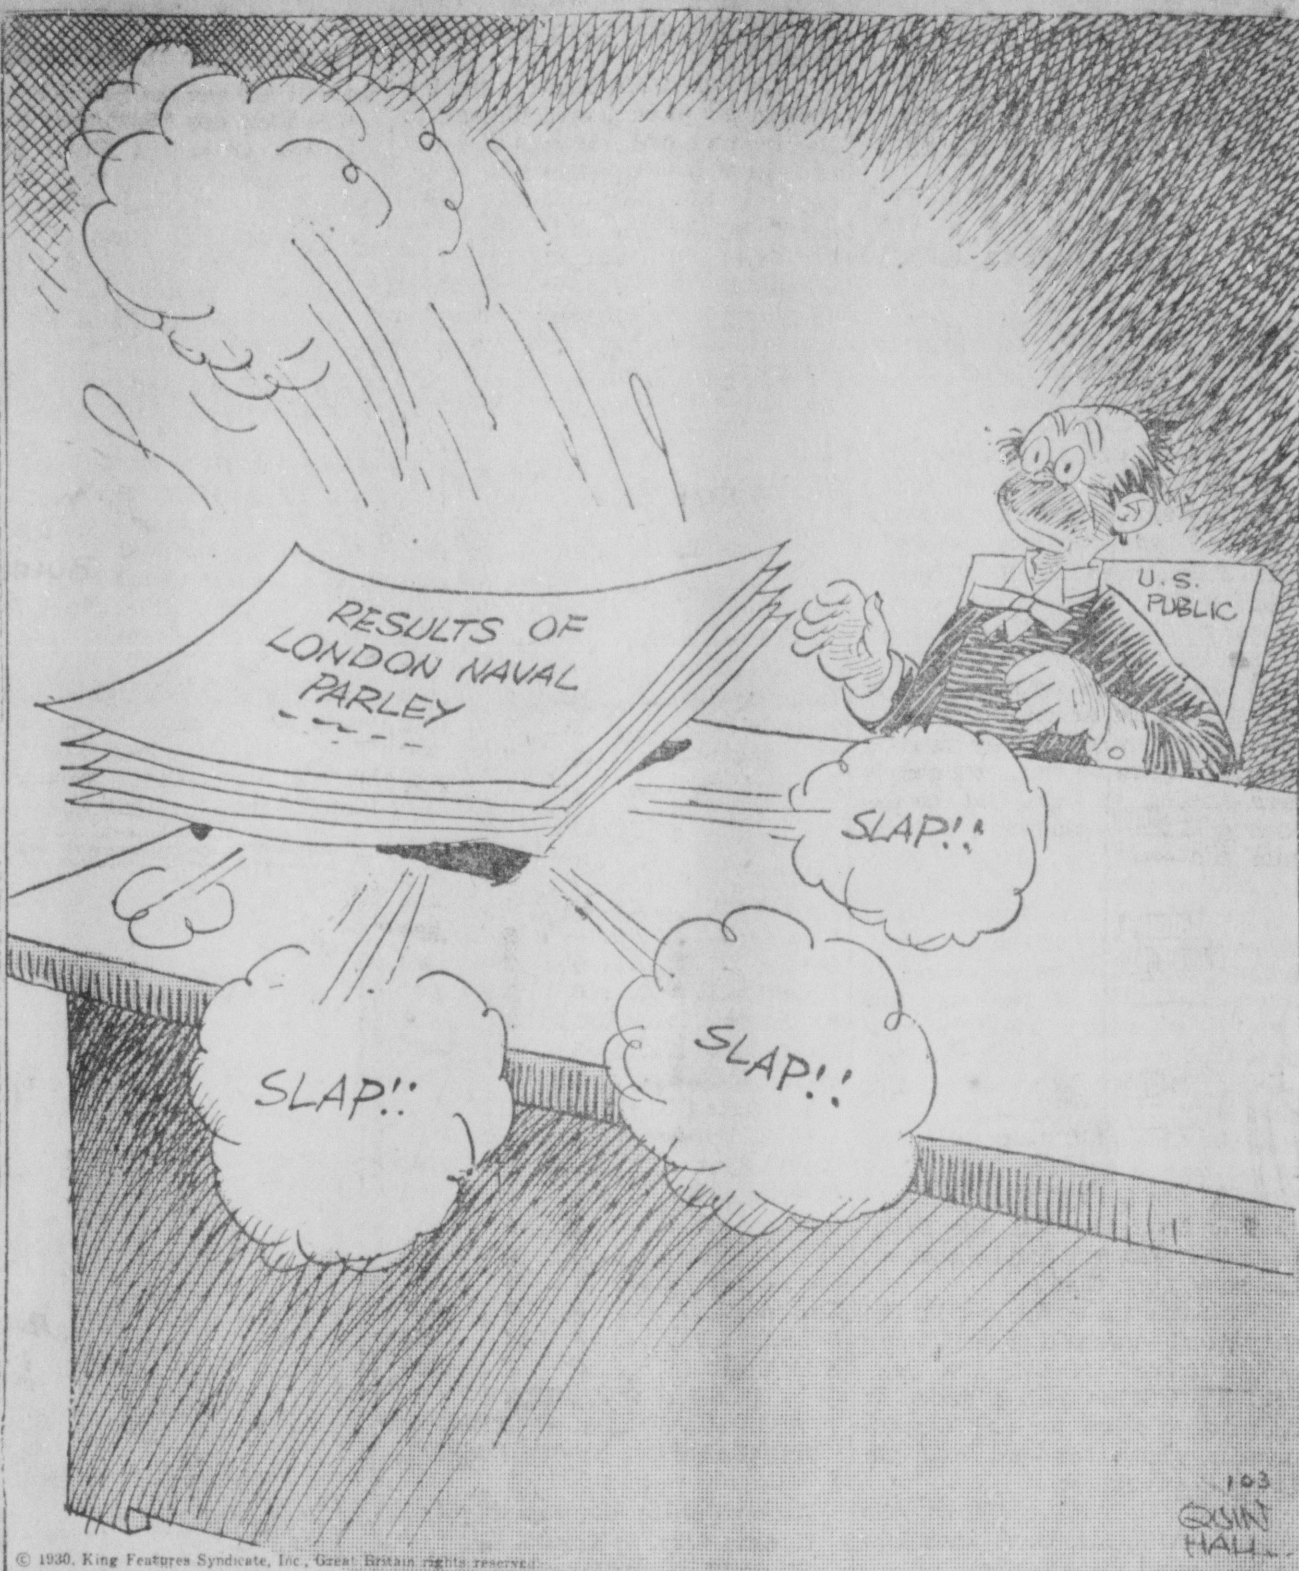

Perhaps communities not blessed with a usable live stock ordinance should take up the idea at the next city council meeting.

FISHING FOR INDUSTRIES

It was regarded as a great idea when, a few years ago, chambers of commerce began employing "industrial commissioners" to bring new factories and businesses to their cities. And it was, for a while. But at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, assembled in Washington the other day, the delegates confessed themselves disillusioned on this point.

The plan worked, as so many bright schemes do, as long as it was in operation only here and there. When every hustling city eager for new industries got an

"SHEIK'S WIFE"

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

DESPITE the warnings of her friend, Mary, young and unsophisticated Eve Reade marries Ken Wilmer, well known artist. Eve hopes to become accustomed to the unconventional ways of Ken's artist associates in The Lane. She has a staunch friend in Nory O'Rell, the author. Ken and Eve spend their honeymoon at Eve's uncle's home. They meet Puss Southwick, who asks permission to visit Ken's studio some time. Ken becomes restless and they return home. In spite of many happy hours, numerous differences arise which Eve tries to overlook. To please Ken, she suggests a housewarming. He is enthused. Nory arrives at the peak of it and Eve feels the party would have been unsuccessful without him. Fifi Devoe flirts with Ken. The colony wonders when Ken asks Fifi to pose for him, and Eve resents it. Ken's picture of Eve appears on a magazine cover and she is thrilled. Lonely when Ken's time is taken up with his work and Fifi, Eve visits Nory.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIII.
IT WAS Sunday evening and everybody had been invited to the Holly's for supper and had made haste to accept, since the cooking and serving of food was a thing avoided in The Lane whenever possible.

Eve had left Ken putting some finishing touches to work which should have been sent out a week ago and had tramped the afternoon away, swinging along back-roads where no cars came and where she met only occasional farm children and the self-contained colts every farm seemed to own.

The old question was turning itself again in her mind; wouldn't Ken be more interested—love her more—if she could do one of the things everybody in The Lane was doing? Could she learn to write? She had tried very hard indeed?

She had wished to ask Nory's advice, but the recollection of what Ken had said about wouldn't be writers and artists had her back. No doubt Nory would feel the same and treat her questions with equal scorn. Still Eve felt that she might do something. Elma Holly—or Elma Shields as she signed herself—who surely had no genius received a high salary for the newspaper column she wrote every day. She made a specialty of giving advice to women; Eve thought the column did but Ken once said that it was considered good journalism. Jan had no great talent and Nory declared Fifi's success a mere flash in the pan. Indeed Nory was the only real writer in the colony. And it did seem to Eve that she might do as well as the others. She would try—oh, work like a slave—if it made any difference about Ken.

She was still thinking of this on the way back to Ken who seemed preoccupied and more than a little moody as they started out. But Chuck was shaking cocktails and Ken at once cheered up and Eve saw that he meant to drink more than was good for him.

Well—should she remind him that the illustrations for a story "Sky Lines" had sent weeks ago was over due and that Mr. Barton, Fifi's editor, already had telephoned twice? Should she do this—warn him to watch his step?

industrial commissioner on the job, as a correspondent at the Washington meeting observes, they "canceled each other" and the net result was negligible. What good is it going to do cities to lure industries from each other? Only a few, with special facilities and inducements or specially clever commissioners, can win.

The industrial commissioners tonight—perhaps precipitate an orgy of temperance during which he would refuse to lift a hand for days on end?

Her uneasiness quickened; she watched the tall, good-looking young fellow she had married with a pleading anxiousness—saw him take the shaker from Chuck, pour a cocktail for himself—another—still another.

She would have gone to him then but they began to file out to the dining room and she trailed along, giddy with relief. The senting arrangement was always catch-and-scrabble at Elma's and Eve paused at the nearest chair and saw that Ken was between Chuck and Ivy, glancing about in a questioning way. Ivy saw his hesitation and moved back, giving her hard little laugh, and beckoned Fifi Devoe. She grinned over her shoulder as she moved around the table to the place Fifi had left.

It was one of those things which happened all the time among the crowd and were regarded as all in the stride of The Lane—excepting that this was different somehow, set apart from will continue. There is plenty of work for them. But it is suggested that henceforth they will give most of their time to industrial service within their own cities.

their little flirtatious gestures as a word in quotation marks is separated from the text of a page.

Eve drew a sharp breath and caught the flicker of Elma's eyes when Elma turned quickly and began to chatter at Pierre Carr. There was the abrupt clatter of talk under which people always bury a strained instant—and through the din Nory's voice drawlingly demanded of Clayton how come he figured on sitting next to Eve.

"Out, ole kid, and make it smart. That's the way to deal with pirates," he confided to everybody when Clay had moved. "He's doing that purposely—drawing their attention—bless him..." So ran Eve's thought, going round and round in the crazy way of dry leaves caught in a draught.

Nory was handing her things, talking all the while, and she was answering "Yes"—"no"—"no"—hearing a word. Ken... Ken and Fifi Devoe... thought that if she were Ken's wife and he were to have a flirtation she would die. But you don't die so easily, much as you might wish it. Oh, what use going on now? So that Ken might come back to her after he had tired of Fifi? As Clayton came to Jan? So she—Eve—like Jan, might go bursting into the midst of these people crying "My man is back"—he always comes back—?"

The shame of that! Yet everybody at this table tonight excepting perhaps only Nory, would sympathize with Ken; everyone would say she had no right to demand all Ken's thought, that all his emotional flights turn to herself.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

Rubber Goods Not Molded

Contrary to what seems to be the quite common impression, rubber goods are not cast by pouring the melted material into molds. Instead the crude rubber is worked between steam-heated rolls and at the same time the sulphur and other ingredients are mixed in. The warm plastic mixture is then molded and heated to vulcanize the rubber—that is, to cause the sulphur to combine with it.

Food, Air, Sunshine!

Nature's Guards Against Anaemia

Says Dr. Copeland

Food Which Is Rich in Iron Is Essential to the Anaemic Person—However, Hygienic Living Must Supplement the Proper Diet.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A LACK of proper diet, of fresh air and sunshine play havoc with the physical health. There are thousands of persons, each of whom can trace a deplorable physical condition to the lack of a nutritious diet and a shut-in existence.

While it may not be traced directly to the neglect of hygiene, anaemia is a disease which is all too prevalent among persons who are guilty of such neglect. It is a disease of so much importance that attention must be directed to it. Anaemia and tuberculosis are, in a sense, closely allied. In both there is a breaking down of the red corpuscles of the blood. This coloring matter in the blood, called "hemoglobin," contains iron and oxygen, elements which are absolutely essential to strength and good health.

There is no doubt that the reducing fad of the past few years has been conducive to thousands of cases of anaemia and tuberculosis. For fashion's sake, girls go without the proper food. They remain thin, or get thin, and fail in health to an alarming extent. It makes no difference what type of anaemia the patient has, there will be loss of strength and vigor. The skin and the lips are pale. The pulse and breathing are rapid, the digestion is poor, and there is broken sleep. Headaches and dizziness, sometimes fainting, and neuralgic pains occur.

You cannot have red blood and good color unless you eat properly. You must have the foods that contain the minerals, especially iron. You must have your full share of the mysterious vitamins. This means you must choose your food with care.

Another cause for anaemia is the absorption of poison from the wastes of the body. Constipation and fermentation in the bowels cannot be disregarded as to their fruitful output of bodily poisons.

You cannot be well if in the body

fresh air, an abundance of light and sunshine, plenty of wholesome exercise, you are sure to impair your blood.

Experiments have shown that there are certain foods which build up the red corpuscles of the blood more quickly than others. Liver ranks first as a blood building food. You may use calves' liver, beef, pig or chicken liver—they possess similar properties.

A person who is anaemic hasn't much appetite. On this account it is essential to find new ways of serving food to make it attractive and appealing. Liver may be served in many different ways. The anaemic person should have a diet which is simple and nutritious. This should include foods rich in iron, such as red, tender beef, liver, eggs and plenty of good milk, well-made bread and butter. Also spinach, beets, cabbage and most of the green vegetables should be included. The fresh fruits, especially the citrus fruits and strawberries are rich in iron. Dried prunes, almonds and walnuts are also good.

You cannot neglect the diet and remain in good health. It needs some intelligence to select and maintain a proper diet, but it certainly pays in the end. Now is the time of year to take advantage of the out-of-doors. Sunshine is yours for the asking. Be outdoors all you can. Build for good health.

Theatres

AT THE METROPOLITAN

"The Broadway Hooper," the Columbia all-talking musical romance opens at the Metropolitan Theatre Sunday with Marie Saxe, Jack Egan and Louise Fazenda in the leading roles. Though the story is simple, it is robust enough to form a satisfactory basis for the excellent music.

The plot is built about Adele Dorey, popular New York musical comedy actress, who goes to a country town to recuperate after a strenuous season. Adele, accompanied by her maid-companion, Jane, are enjoying the simple life when Bobby Lewis, manager and leading man of a burlesque show arrives. He not only succeeds in winning the Broadway star's heart, but presses her into service as a member of his troupe. How Adele decides to tear up a lucrative contract to follow the burlesque hooper, supplies a dramatic conclusion to the romantic plot.

This love romance of the two children of jazz who will dance their way into your heart is the last word in eye and ear entertainment. George Archainbaud directed.

William Boyd is rapidly gaining the reputation of being the screen's most formidable champion of the uniform. In "Officer O'Brien," a Pathe talking picture directed by Tay Garnett and in which he is starred, Boyd plays a lieutenant of police and chalks up his seventh part in brass buttons or olive drab.

Boyd started his military screen record with "Dress Parade," as a cadet of the United States Military Academy. In "Two Arabian Knights" he was a doughboy. In "The Leatherneck," he played a marine. In "Lady of the Pavements" he was an officer of some mythical Kingdom. "The Cop" he was a policeman. "His First Command" found him a cavalryman and now, in "Officer O'Brien" he is one of the finest.

"Officer O'Brien" is an original story by Tom Buchanan. It is tense drama and is packed with thrills from start to finish. Others in the cast are Dorothy Sebastian, featured as leading woman, Ernest Torrence, Clyde Cook, Paul Hurst, Russell Gleason, Arthur Housman, Ralf Harolde and Tom Mahoney.

AT THE CLIFTONA

If you can imagine that never-to-be forgotten epic of war aviation, "Wings" with its zooming planes, its thrilling air-fights, its awe-inspiring grandeur, its romance, its gayety and its pathos—all-talking, you'll have a plenty good idea of the great entertainment that awaits you at the Cliftona Theatre, Sunday. There "Young Eagles," with Charles (Buddy) Rogers in the starring role, is enjoying a rousing welcome.

Buddy was never better, even in "Wings," than he is in this smashing entertainment. He's a dashing young officer of aviation who fights and loves, is convincingly duped and greatly rewarded in fast-moving and spectacular fashion. The picture moves from the battle fronts of the skies to the easy life behind the lines, from the danger and suspense of war to the gayety and glamor of glittering Paris.

And the girl is Jean Arthur, the darling little charmer of "Half Way to Heaven." After her performance in "Young Eagles," she's sure to be established as the all-time girl friend of "America's boy-friend." Paul Lukas has a handsome role and handles it handsomely. And, for laughs, there's Stuart Erwin who lifted the roof as the dumb "Axel" in "Sweetie."

During his moving picture career, Richard Arlen, Paramount's latest star, who will be seen in his first stellar role in the Cliftona Theatre feature for Friday and Saturday of this week, "Burning Up", has played opposite some of screen's most beautiful women. In "Burning Up" Mary Brian his heroine of "The Man I Love" and "The Virginian," is his sweet-heart again.

In "She's a Sheik" and "Feel My Pulse," Bebe Daniels was the star. Arlen played opposite Clara Bow in "Wings" "Ladies of the Mob" and "Dangerous Curves." He has made love to Fay Wray and Louise Brooks. In "Danger-Cocktail," he played opposite Nancy Carroll.

AT THE GRAND

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, perhaps the most popular of all screen sweethearts, not only talk in "Sunny Side Up," original Fox Movietone musical comedy by DeSylva, Brown and Henderson, but also sing and dance in a manner which marks them as outstanding performers in this field as they were in silent pictures.

Miss Gaynor has studied voice culture ever since she first entered pictures, a little over three years ago. To sing always has been one of her greatest ambitions, she confessed recently, and ever since signing a long term contract with Fox she has filled in much of her spare time studying voice.

Consequently, when the development of audible pictures attained their tremendous popularity, the little star was well equipped to step before a microphone and talk or sing with the best of them. Unlike so many of the former silent screen favorites, who have passed into oblivion with the new era, Miss Gaynor has attained even greater heights through the use of her voice.

She sings several songs in "Sunny Side Up" which will be seen and heard on the screen of the Grand Theatre, all written especially for her by the highly successful song writing combination of DeSylva, Brown and Henderson. She also displays real ability as a solo dancer in one number.

STAFF EXPERIENCED

Both editors newly appointed on the staff are experienced, and have been working on this paper several years. The staff will edit The Red and Black for the rest of the school term. This practice will make them capable of editing the paper next year.

The four in charge, Pat Kirwin, Don Rader, Dale Stawser, and J. Robert Rooney are members of the Quill and Scroll, the first three having the usual honor of gaining admittance in their sophomore year. This edition of The Red and Black is dedicated to the Girls Reserve.

Girl Reserves

PETERS HEADS RESERVE
 Doris Peters, Ruth Carothers and Grace Steele were elected president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively at the Girl Reserves meeting which was held Thursday noon. These people will replace the former officers, President, Elizabeth Roundhouse, Vice-President, Evelyn Steele and Secretary, Doris Peters.

The lunch served following the meeting consisted of creamed chicken, biscuits, mashed potatoes, egg salad, and iced tea.

HISTORY OF THE GIRL RESERVE

It was 63 years ago that a group of women in Boston set out to discover how more light could be brought into the lives of young women. Every year hundreds of girls share in a quest to find better ways of living. In every town, and city, at home, at school, at church, girls grow into a realization of their responsibility for learning to make wise choices of things to think and do. In the Young Women's Christian Association "teen-age" girls who start on this quest are called Girl Reserves.

Girl Reserves stand united in a common purpose, working together in Christian fellowship.

A Girl Reserve means a girl who takes the way of virtue, a girl who develops her spirit, who tries always to learn something new, useful, helpful for her future life.

The Girl Reserves everywhere say that to live in the spirit of Girl Reserves means living today with dreams for tomorrow.

The Girl Reserve Movement is not a plan; it is an idea. It is a set of ways of doing things, neither is it a tool; it is an understanding.

The Girl Reserve Movement is a way of living which is effective in its appeal. It brings to girls an understanding and appreciation not only of themselves but of others, and of God as creator of their world.

The months of June and July are the high points in the Girl Reserve calendar for it is during these months that Girl Reserves from all over the country answer the Call to Conference. Together with their advisors or secretaries they meet for ten days in Girl Reserve Camps to gain new ideas and inspirations for their year work. The purpose of these conferences is to help Girl Reserves learn how to live as "Christians" of their age should live and to give them definite ideas that they may carry out in their club work.

PROGRESS OF THE GIRL RESERVE CLUB

The Girl Reserves can rightfully boast of having made much progress this year. The fact that 25 new members were initiated this year makes the prospect of progress next year seem even better than that of this.

The club started its good work by preparing baskets for the Home and Hospital at Christmas time.

On January 11, Miss Watson, faculty advisor, and Elizabeth Roundhouse, president, attended a meeting of delegates from Central Ohio at the Y. W. C. A. Columbus, for the purpose of planning the yearly Conference which was to be held on Saturday March 29. At this time six girls attended and brought back reports for the benefit of the rest of the club.

During the earlier part of the year the club had a party and later a banquet with the Hi-Y. Meetings were held Wednesday noon of each week at which luncheons were prepared by different members. Helpful discussions were held each week on different subjects such as, Bible study, etiquette.

A candy sale was held to raise money for the club. Jello is also being sold, through the cooperation of the club success is inevitable.

"Hi-Y"

HI-Y CHAPEL

Dr. G. D. Phillips, local dentist, was the guest speaker of the Hi-Y club, which held its regular meeting during the Monday morning chapel service.

Dr. Phillips explained and illustrated what caused the decay of the teeth. He also explained how to brush your teeth so as to get the best results. At the close of his speech he gave this slogan to the students, "Be true to your teeth or they will be false to you."

Two saxophone solos, "Stein Song," and "The Desert Song" were played by Gaylord Rose.

A scripture lesson was read by Robert Griffith while Advisor E. I. Gephart led the student body in prayer.

Song service was lead by Robert Rector with Charles Plum at the piano.

HI-Y SENIOR DAY

"Making Good or Just Getting By?" was the topic discussed at the Hi-Y meeting held Tuesday noon in the auditorium. Each senior was given a sub-topic on which to speak thus making it a senior Hi-Y day. Robert Rector was leader of the following program.

"What Is Meant by Just Getting By," Charles Kirkpatrick, "What Is Meant by Making Good," Linden Baughman, "Places Where Fellows Just Get By," Andrew Goeller, "Making Good Can Become A Habit," James Sampson, "American Men Who Have Made Good," Edgar Clark, "Things That Will Keep A Young Fellow From Making Good," Maynard McCallister, "The Demands of Life Upon a Young Man Entering a Life's Work," E. I. Gephart, "Christianity Related to Everyday Life," Richard Nickerson, "Luke 19: 26 Related to Making Good," V. D. Keeler.

Next week there will be the election of new officers and at the meeting following there will be the formal installation.

ORCHESTRA

ORCHESTRA GETS THREE NUMBERS

The orchestra received and practiced three new numbers at regular meeting Tuesday. That are "What Is This Thing Called Love," "Sould I," "Your always in My Arms Cherlie."

HISTORY OF THE LOCAL GIRL RESERVE CLUB

In 1927 a Girl Reserve unit was organized in Circleville high school by three girls who were interested in bringing such an organization to the school.

Miss Velma Watson was chosen faculty advisor. The advisory council consisted of: Mrs. William J. M. Mrs. Harry Stevenson, Miss Agnes Butch, Miss Flora Dunlap and Miss Elma Rains.

The constitution modeled after that of the National Y. W. C. A. was drafted. Qualifications for membership, ideals, and dues were decided by the charter members.

The charter officers were as follows: Marie Kellstadt, president; Alice Roof, vice-president; and Elizabeth Roundhouse, secretary-treasurer.

The slogan chosen was "To Face Life Squarely." The purpose, "To Lead and Give the Best."

Visiting the Home and Hospital during the Christmas season is an annual affair of the Girl Reserve Club.

Each year delegates are sent to the Conference held at the Y. W. C. A., Columbus. The purpose of his meeting is to make the different clubs of the state acquainted. This meeting has proven very beneficial to the girls as well as the club.

Charter members are: Marie Kellstadt, Veronica Kuhns, Mary Hoffman, Frances Metzger, Clara Kellstadt, Grace Eower, and Elizabeth Roundhouse.

SOPHOMORE WITHDRAWS

Gerald McCreary, sophomore has withdrawn and has moved to Nelsonville, Ohio.

TIGER TRACKSTERS DEFEAT PICKAWAY

Excellent performing in track events, the second time in two weeks again tells the story of the victory of Circleville high school's track team over Pickaway high school's team, this time by 68 1-2 to 53 1-2 in a dual track meet Tuesday. Enoch, Pickaway had, was high point man of the meet with 11 points while Hill was high pointer for the victors with 10 1-2 points.

Davis runs the 4:40 yard dash in 59.25; Adkins runs the 8:80 yard dash in 2 M. 15 S., both local runners. Enoch throws the discus 80 ft. 8 in. and puts the shot-put 32 ft. 4 in. for the country lads. Heiskell, Circleville's fast runner, although handicapped with an injured mouth which prevented him from practicing for two weeks, took first place in both events in which he ran.

First place results:
 Discus throw, Enoch (P.) 80 ft. 8 in.; Shot-put, Enoch (P.) 32 ft. 4 1-2 in.; 100-yd. dash, Heiskell (C.) time not taken; 220-yd. dash, Hill (C.) 26.2 S.; 440-yd. dash, Davis (C.) 59.4 S.; 880-yd. dash, Adkins (C.) 2 m. 15 s.; Mile run, Dunkle (P.) 5 m. 11 3-5 s.; High jump, White (C.) 5 ft. 4 1-2 in.; Pole Vault, McKinsey (P.) 9 ft. 6 in.; Running broad jump, Davis (C.) 17 ft.; 69 yd. dash, Heiskell (C.) 7 s.; Standing broad jump Davis (P.) 9 ft.

A QUESTIONNAIRE

Soph: Going to Senior class play?

Frosh: I don't know. When is it?

Soph: May 15 & 16.

Frosh: What's the name of it?

Soph: Just like a Frosh. Why, now it's called "The Busybody."

It used to be, "Oh, Mommer, How could you?" They say it's pretty good. It has played at the Bijou Theatre in New York City with George Choo as director. It doesn't sound so bad, does it?

Frosh: No, if you know what that means.

Soph: You win. The freshmen take any cake.

Junior: Hello, Senior: Where you going?

Senior: Gotta go to play practice. We're on the third act now.

Junior: How's it coming along?

Senior: O. K. of course. Did you ever see a senior product that wasn't?

Junior: Say now, it's not altogether a senior product. How about John Himrod, isn't he stage manager?

Senior: He used to be. John Heiskell has that now. John Himrod is his assistant. We're making it a senior affair as much as possible, even Virginia Richey is succeeding Ruth Carothers as prompter.

Junior: Only seniors would do a thing like that.

Senior: Only seniors could.

1st. teacher: It's a wonder the senior pupils keep up with their work so well isn't it?

2nd. teacher: It is remarkable considering their practice.

1st. teacher: I have eight girls from my class in it. They are Margie Hunsicker, Mary M. Moore, Elizabeth Cady, Peggy Courtwright, Jeanne Crowe, Elizabeth Roundhouse, Florence Celler, and Jinsy Mader.

2nd. teacher: Isn't this queerer? I have eight boys in it. They are Howard Greeno Charles Kirkpatrick, Linden Baughman, Robert Rector, Stanley Greene, Reynold Green, James Brown and Charles M. McAllister.

1st. teacher: Well, I must say I hope that it will be a howling success.

2nd. teacher: I'm sure it will.

BENEFIT PLAY CAST COMPLETED

With the selection of Martha Mary Wolfe to fill the character of Jane, Carl Wallace to fill the character of Sam, the colored porter, and the appointment of Doris Peters as prompter, the cast for the Berger Hospital Benefit play, The Arrival of Kitty, to be given by the National Thespians was completed.

The three named are Thespians. The first two starred in "Second Childhood," and "The Call of the Banshee." Doris Peters was interloctress in "Joker's Jubilee." In addition, each saw service in operettas and numerous one-act plays.

When interviewed the director said he regretted the member of the cast prevented the use of all alumni Thespians.

TEACHERS WILL BROADCAST
 Miss Gladys Peters, fifth grade teacher at High Street school, will radio cast piano solos over radio station WATU, Columbus, May 10, from 10:45 to 11:00 o'clock.

Facts About Your School

HIGH STREET SCHOOL SIXTH GRADE

Victors are Picnic Guests

Captain Tillie Davis and half of the sixth grade were guests of the other half of the grade with their captain, Ned Harding, Thursday as a result of a spelling contest. The losing side entertained the winners.

A picnic was chosen. Each one of the losers furnished enough food or refreshments for two. The eats and refreshments were sandwiches, cookies and cocoa.

The entertainment had formerly been chosen for St. Patrick's day but was postponed.

Geography test, number seven, was given to the sixth grade pupils with the following results: high, 120 was received by Alice Griner and Tillie Davis, median, 100.5 and low, 64.

FOURTH GRADE

Mary Jane Shier and Louise Cooper with a grade of 84 received high in the paragraph reading test given to pupils of Miss Reid's class. The median for this test was 68 and low 16.

The word meaning test results are: high, Louise Cooper, 85; median, 62, and low 33.

Marcella Fry has withdrawn from school by permission of her physician.

RECEIVE KODAKS

Eleven girls of the sixth grade received kodaks, free of charge through the courtesy of the Eastman Kodak Company and their local representative, The Hamilton and Ryan Drug Store, on the former's celebration of their fiftieth anniversary.

All that they required of the girls was that they be under 12 years of age, their signature and the signature of one of their parents.

FIFTH GRADE

Montford Kirkwood made highest score of 97 in geography test.

FRANKLIN TESTS

In a Standard Achievement test, number seven in geography the high was 130 made by Evelyn Wolfe. The low 69, class Median 107 1-2 and the standard, medium 81.

In a Standard Achievements Word Meaning test number two the high was 107 made by George Rader with 89 was the class Median, 63 medium of 81.

In a Standard Reading test number one 109 was high made by George Rader, low was 64, class median, 88 with the standard median 81.

EIGHTH GRADE

Hazel Henry has re-entered eighth grade after having been absent for three weeks.

The geography test given in eighth grade last week resulted with medium 82, high 98, and low 58.

Those pupils who received 90 or above are Ned Hitchcock, Helen Colville, Hazel Coleman, John Robinson, Lawrence Lane, and Miller Campbell.
